Mike's Minute

Give us this day our daily bread.

Matthew 6:11

When Israel was on their journey through the wilderness, they awoke every morning to find that manna, bread from heaven, had been provided for them to eat. God gave the Israelites specific instructions never to hoard more than a single day's ration, except on the Sabbath.

By His grace, God provided for the Israelites' physical needs... but the spiritual lesson they learned was an even greater gift. God was intent on teaching His people to trust Him to meet their daily needs.

As it was in the Old Testament, God's physical provision for His people is still a tangible reminder of His spiritual provision. When we pray that God will meet our daily needs, we are working to eliminate pride, materialism, and worry. We are making a conscious effort to acknowledge that God has promised to meet our needs... not our greeds!

Do you have a significant need in your life? Ask God to meet it. God tells you not to worry about tomorrow. The way we give tomorrow to God is through the process of prayer.

Let's allow the original Wonder Bread (manna) to teach us to live one day at a time!

In Christian Love,

Mike

Just Joshin'

The week of Memorial Day has come and gone. Many enjoyed a 3-day weekend last weekend and, hopefully, you all spent quality time with your loved ones and got a reprieve. However, now that we're a week removed, how often do we really remember Memorial Day beyond the holiday itself and getting a day off work? With many holidays, we find ourselves celebrating for one day because we feel like we have to, and then disregarding it the other 364 days. We must be careful of this trap. As we honor those who have fallen protecting our freedoms, let us remember that Memorial Day is not just a day on the calendar—it's a call to live in gratitude and respect every day.

In John 15:13, Jesus says, "Greater love has no one than this: to lay down one's life for one's friends." This profound sacrifice is one we should never forget. While Memorial Day serves as a National Day of Remembrance, our hearts should remain focused on honoring the fallen throughout the year. It's through our actions—living lives of love, service, and gratitude—that we continue to honor their legacy. True honor doesn't come from a single day of remembrance, but from a daily commitment to live with purpose, to serve others, and to cherish the freedoms we have. We are called to reflect the sacrificial love of Christ in all we do, every day. This should also be applied to our reflection of Christ's life and His sacrifice.

We should be living a "Memorial Day" every day in honor of Jesus because, without His willingness to die, our lives would be hopeless! How blessed we are to serve a loving and selfless Savior!

To God be the glory,

Josh

WISDOM FROM A TOMBSTONE

I have always enjoyed walking through old cemeteries, reflecting on lives long gone. During a recent stroll, I came across this faded tombstone; Irvin E. Griffin, May 12, 1864-March 15, 1939, followed by this intriguing inscription: "Still the World Goes On."

Having died before I was even born, Mr. Griffin left me with the realization of my own insignificance. What difference will my death have upon this world? None. My passing may affect my family, but the world will not take notice. The truth is that Mr. Griffin gave us an inscription that could be placed on every tombstone and bronze marker. At all deaths, the world goes on.

"Life is but a vapor, that appears for a moment and then vanishes away" (James 4:14). As Job said, "Man, who is born of woman, is of few days and full of trouble. He comes forth like a flower and fades away" (Job 14:1-2). Only a few things will matter at your death: Have you been washed in the blood of the Lamb? Are you a child of the King? Are you ready to face God in judgment? If so; the world may go on, no matter, for you will be safe in the arms of Jesus.

-Dennis Doughty
